

Design a Date

A Fall Drive

Sometimes driving is one of the best times to talk as a couple. This date mixes driving with marveling at the beautiful fall colors together. (If you live in a part of the world where trees don't change color in the fall, just find a scenic drive to do together.)

Set aside an hour or two for your drive. Set out on a drive that is different than you've done before and promises some beautiful scenery. Talk, share, pray, laugh, and tell stories as you drive.

If there's an orchard or pumpkin farm in the area, enjoy some apple cider and pumpkin donuts along the way!

Here are some variations/conversation starters for this date:

Fall theme:

When did you FALL in love with me?

What's your favorite thing to do in the FALL?

What season is your personal favorite?

Prayer:

Popcorn pray as you drive--each of you praying a sentence or two as God prompts.

Pray for each other, your kids, grandkids, extended family, upcoming plans, and your church.

Learn:

Listen to a podcast together as you drive (need an idea--check out the Focus on the Family app)

Listen to one of the No More Perfect Date Night interviews, double dates, or webinars you haven't listened to yet.

Dream:

Talk about something you'd like to plan for the future.

Make a bucket list of things you'd like to do in the next five years together.
