

Design a Date

The Remake Date

Do you have a favorite memory from when you were dating? A favorite day you spent together? An evening you have fond memories of? An activity you've always remembered as special?

For this Design-A-Date, you'll "remake" that date. You can have fun with this however you'd like, but here are some ideas:

If you remember what you wore, wear something similar (or the same thing if it's still in your closet and it fits you!).

If you took a picture, remake the picture and then share a side-by-side on social media for fun, if you'd like!

Wherever you ate, eat there if it still exists. If it doesn't, eat somewhere similar. Order the same food if you remember what you ordered!

Do whatever activities you did!

End the night the same way you ended it (yes, that means making out in the driveway if that was part of the memory!)

Most of all, have fun remaking a favorite time you spent together early in your relationship!
